Buddha means "a person who is awake", awake here means waken of reality. He is the founder of Buddhism. Born in a royal family raised in all luxury and opulence Lord Buddha was unaware of any bitter truth of outside world suffering until the age of 29. He was married and had a son. Lord Buddha one day on his way to Kapila Vastu when he encountered three aspects of life an old man, a sick, and the dead. these scenes make him disturbed as he realized that these are the universal fates of all humans where no one can escape. No wealth or pleasure will prevent him from also getting old, sick, and dead. He also saw a holy sage who was walking on the road, even after renouncing the pleasure of the world, he was looking very calm and peaceful from his face. This made Buddha find a solution to the suffering, human face. He gave up his lavish princely life and left to search for the quest. For six years he has adopted many practices, extreme starvation, self-deprivation but found no result, he finally sat beneath a Bodhi tree near Bodh Gaya where he achieve enlightenment. He spent the rest of his life teaching others about the path to achieving the spiritual stage as him. During the meditation, their heavy rainfall came and Lord Buddha was about to sweep away in the floodwater, there is when a seven head snake saw this and wrapped around him his coil and uplifted him from the flood, and spread the hood over the head of Lord Buddha to protect him. The above statue depicts the moment where the seven-headed snake was in his protection, Lord Buddha is seen sitting in the coil of the serpent in a double lotus pose. Both hands are held near the chest forming a circle with the thumb and index of both hands. The circle represents the wheel of Dharma. A dharma wheel has three basic parts, the hub, the rim, and the spokes.

- Hub: Moral discipline.
- Rim: Meditative concentration and mindfulness.
- Spokes: If a wheel has four spokes it represents the four noble truths and if the wheel has eight spokes it represents the eightfold part.

This form of Buddha is also known as Dharmachakra Buddha. which means the wheel of Dharma. Lord Buddha's first sermon was based on the four noble truths and the eightfold part. Beneficial for people seeking academic and spiritual growth in their life. As it represents wisdom and intellectual it improves the peacefulness and calmness in the surrounding. It can be a perfect gifting option for your dear ones. Placement: Northeast or southwest is favorable to place teaching Buddha statue. Always face him east while placing. Care: Nonporous materials like soapstone is easy to keep clean. Dusting should be done using a cloth or broom.

Product Description

Soap Stone Sitting Teaching Buddha Statue 8 inch, the piece is an endless placement option throughout the home. Feature the Buddha sitting on a lotus platform, with an incredible white finish. Signifying wisdom, and fulfillment of destiny. Material: Soapstone/Pink stone Dimension(HWL): 8 x 5 x 2.3 inch Position: Sitting Buddha is means "the awakened one". A man who has wakened fully, a man who discovered to bring off wisdom, empathy, and deliverance from suffering. A crown prince left everything behind in search of enlightenment and spent the life rest teaching others. The statue here depicted his teaching phase, where he delivered his first sermon, in Sarnath. The first sermon presents the recapitulation of suffering and the way to overcome it. It is called the four noble truths.

Those four noble truths are:

1. Suffering
2. Cause of suffering
3. end of suffering
4. the path that leads to the end of suffering

Suffering the "Dukha" or unsatisfactoriness, suffering is three types according to Lord Buddha first suffering from physical and psychological pain. Second, the blissful state, which is not permanent it changes with time, and the third is suffering arising from the failure. Next is the cause of suffering, which arises from our craving for desire, fantasy, and avaricious. End of suffering means the way out of suffering, if we put an end to our desire, ego, and on dukkha then we will get our self free from unsatisfactoriness. And finally, the path that leads to the end of suffering lies in the eighth-most ethical habit known as the eightfold path.

The eight habits include

1. Right understanding
2. Right thought
3. Right speech
4. Right action
5. Right livelihood
6. Right effort
7. Right mindfulness
8. Right concern.

These habits restrain us from lying stealing and committing violent acts, the paths help us to control; our self and not be harmful to others by maintaining social harmony.

Here Buddha is sitting on a lotus platform, with Vajrasana pose, right hand on chest level turned palm out forming a circle with the tip of index and thumb, the left hand resting on the lap of left leg forming the same circle with the finger, palm out. Widely known as Dharmachakra Buddha. The teaching Buddha represents eternal knowledge and enlightenment so keeping a statue of teaching Buddha is favorable for people seeking academic success and spiritual learning.

Placement: Northeast delivers the pious zone of serenity. The Buddha should always face the east to rip more positive results. Care: Keep the statue clean with the help of a cloth or broom will not let the dirt settle on it.
