Product Description

Lord Ganesha is the lord of the beginning and destructor of ordeals; he is the bestower of boon and success. This statue is carved out of soapstone and is depicted having four hands one resting on knee and other on a pillow, his other two hands bearing sweets and a mace. He is presented reclining on a platform which symbolizes peace and will bring peace and love to your house. His large elephant head depicts enormous knowledge and his small eyes symbolize concentration. He has a pot belly which teaches us to digest every good or evil that comes your way, his big fan like ears symbolizes that he listens to every prayer of his devotee. Bring the elephant headed deity to establish peace and harmony in your workplace or house. You can even use it to decorate your car.
