Product Description

Lord Ganesha is the destroyer of evil and is worshiped before beginning any auspicious occasion to remove any obstacle. He always eradicates pain and trouble of his devotees and is known as the Ganadhipati or the head of the ganas. In this statue Ganesha is portrayed sitting over a platform with lotus carved on it with his trunk facing towards the right. He is presented having four hands, two holding a mace and a noose, other bearing the sweet bowl and last hand raised to bestow blessings upon his devotees. With a snake tied on his pot belly and a tiny mouse placed near his feet, the statue is carved out of black stone with perfection. This statue will be a beautiful add-on to the appearance of your house, office or garden. Use it for decoration or for increasing the spiritual level of your house, this statue is perfect.
